

Proposed Domestic Abuse (Prevention) (Scotland) Bill

Introduction

A proposal for a Bill to make provision for the prevention of domestic abuse and improve support for those affected, including by requiring: those convicted of offences related to domestic abuse to provide information for a register; use of this information to prevent further harm; use of rehabilitation measures in relation to offences related to domestic abuse; collation and reporting of data related to domestic abuse; and domestic abuse education in schools.

The consultation runs from 29 August 2022 to 20 November 2022

All those wishing to respond to the consultation are strongly encouraged to enter their responses electronically through this survey. This makes collation of responses much simpler and quicker. However, the option also exists of sending in a separate response (in hard copy or by other electronic means such as e-mail), and details of how to do so are included in the member's consultation document.

Questions marked with an asterisk (*) require an answer.

All responses must include a name and contact details. Names will only be published if you give us permission, and contact details are never published – but we may use them to contact you if there is a query about your response. If you do not include a name and/or contact details, we may have to disregard your response.

Please note that you must complete the survey in order for your response to be accepted. If you don't wish to complete the survey in a single session, you can choose "Save and Continue later" at any point. Whilst you have the option to skip particular questions, you must continue to the end of the survey and press "Submit" to have your response fully recorded.

Please ensure you have read the consultation document before responding to any of the questions that follow. In particular, you should read the information contained in the document about how your response will be handled. The consultation document is available here:

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill? (Please note that this question is compulsory.)

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response.

These measures would improve the overall support available for victims of domestic abuse. I hope they would also act as a deterrent to would-be abusers. The current education in schools on domestic abuse is nowhere near good enough and the Bill would hopefully improve this.

Q2. Do you think legislation is required, or are there other ways in which the proposed Bill's aims could be achieved more effectively? Please explain the reasons for your response.

Yes

Domestic Abuse Register

Q3. Which of the following best expresses your view on creating a register of those convicted of domestic abuse related offences?

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response. Please include any views you have on the list of policy details set out in bold on pages 23 and 24 of the consultation document.

This measure should stop people moving around endlessly through different families. I have seen families affected by the same criminal because the current system doesn't do enough to prevent this. The Disclosure Schemes have good intentions behind them but they do not go far enough. A register would ensure criminals are monitored more consistently.

Rehabilitation Measures

Q4. Which of the following best expresses your view of introducing mandatory rehabilitation measures for those convicted of domestic abuse?

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response. Please include any views you have on the list of policy details set out in bold on page 26 of the consultation document.

The current programmes in place to rehabilitate aren't mandatory and are very inconsistent from one city to the next. I have family who have gone through this and there was almost nothing available to them for support, and the perpetrator ended up with a light sentence and no rehabilitation. He and many others ended up reoffending. Mandatory rehabilitation measures should help stop this from happening so I fully support this part of the Bill.

Data

Q5. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposals for data collection and reporting set out in the consultation document in bold on pages 30 and 31?

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response including what information could usefully be collated and which groups in society could most benefit from improved information on their access to domestic abuse services and support.

The government clearly doesn't keep enough data on the real picture of domestic abuse in Scotland. We know there is a particular problem with domestic abuse in some communities yet the data on this is still incomplete. The steps detailed in the consultation should at least help put pressure on the government to improve this, even if they choose to do nothing in response to this then this will still expose the lack of work in this area.

Education

Q6. Which of the following best expresses your view of introducing mandatory education in schools on domestic abuse?

Fully supportive

Please explain the reasons for your response including any comments on the issues in bold on page 32 of the consultation document.

There are already some good programmes of domestic abuse education in schools taking place. I have seen these in schools themselves and they are both effective and comprehensive in what they cover. But these programmes are inconsistent across different schools and not mandatory, so many pupils are missing out. Mandatory education on this subject in schools would be an important step towards stopping the culture that builds up in some young people that this is acceptable or normal behaviour. This would need to be targeted at primary schools initially though it may be important to continue this to the senior phase also.

Financial Implications

Q7. Any new law can have a financial impact which would affect individuals, businesses, the public sector, or others. What financial impact do you think this proposal could have if it became law?

some increase in costs

Please explain the reasons for your answer, including who you would expect to feel the financial impact of the proposal, and if there are any ways you think the proposal could be delivered more cost-effectively.

The rehabilitation programmes may cost extra to deliver but would be worth it through reducing reoffending. The domestic abuse register should not be too expensive to create and it shouldn't be too expensive to report to Parliament about the work they're doing every year, so overall the Bill should only cause a small increase in costs.

Equalities

Q8. Any new law can have an impact on different individuals in society, for example as a result of their age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership status, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex or sexual orientation.

What impact could this proposal have on particular people if it became law? If you do not have a view skip to next question.

Please explain the reasons for your answer and if there are any ways you think the proposal could avoid negative impacts on particular people.

No Response

Sustainability

Q9. Any new law can impact on work to protect and enhance the environment, achieve a sustainable economy, and create a strong, healthy, and just society for future generations.

Do you think the proposal could impact in any of these areas? (If you do not have a view then skip to next question)

Please explain the reasons for your answer, including what you think the impact of the proposal could be, and if there are any ways you think the proposal could avoid negative impacts?

It should have no significant impact either way.

General

Q10. Do you have any other additional comments or suggestions on the proposed Bill (which have not already been covered in any of your responses to earlier questions)?

Overall I support each aspect of the Bill, it would do a lot to drive down reoffending rates and ensure young people know enough about domestic abuse.
